

Problem Statement:

Many websites exist that track what television shows the user has watched, but none seem to do this while maintaining a simple user interface.

Details:

Many avid television watchers find themselves overwhelmed with the sheer amount of shows that they have watched, are watching, and want to watch. While there are many websites that can help you track this, the over complicated interface just makes it more difficult. This problem often comes up while trying to add shows to a user's profile. Many sites have an excess of ways to categorize the shows you are consuming. This is where the problem reveals itself. The excess of functionality becomes too much for the user, and it's easier to forget about it.